Be Aware Of Carbon Monoxide Poisoning As It Cools Down

Carbon Monoxide (CO) is an invisible, tasteless, odorless gas that can come from fuel-burning appliances like furnaces, fireplaces, and water heaters. This gas is impossible to detect with the five human senses, but it can cause serious illness and even death. Early symptoms of CO poisoning include headaches, nausea, and dizziness. Worsening symptoms can include collapse, coma, or death. CO poisoning is extremely dangerous for all ages and household pets, but the risk is higher for infants under 4, and elderly 75 years or older. To help avoid carbon monoxide poisoning:

- Get a Carbon Monoxide detector.
- DO NOT leave automobiles idling in the garage.
- Check all fuel-burning equipment at least once a year.

The City is selling CO detectors at a discounted price of $10.00 to support the Fire Department's goal of ensuring every Ogden residence has one. Those interested in purchasing a detector must bring a utility bill to prove residency to the cashier's office in the City Municipal Building (2549 Washington Blvd Suite 240).

Emergency Preparedness: Cybersecurity

The 2021 National Cybersecurity Awareness Month theme is “Do Your Part.

#BeCyberSmart. This theme is focused on encouraging individuals and organizations by taking their own steps in protecting their part of cyberspace. Follow these three steps to be Cybersafe.

- Be Cyber Smart: Some of the best protection can be learned from the basics of cyber safety. That is creating strong passwords, using two-factor authentication, backing up data, and updating your software.
- Fight the Phish: Phishing attacks have thrived ever since the pandemic started. Take some steps to be more aware of phishing attempts. Be wary of emails, text messages, or unexpected chat boxes. If they are suspicious don't click on any links or attachments sent.
- Cybersecurity First: Keep cybersecurity at the front of your mind as you connect daily. Research before purchasing a device or digital product. Consider your privacy or security settings when setting up a new device or app, and consider updating old/default passwords.
