

OGD CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

To all:

The sewer line construction schedule below has been delayed approximately one week.

Airport Road should be open for the rest of this week. This is due to a conflict between the original sewer line alignment and Rocky Mountain Power's existing underground power lines. Please expect the road closure to begin again, next Monday or Tuesday.

NOTICE OF ROAD CLOSURE - AIRPORT ROAD

Airport Road will be closed at Borsight's hangar southbound. The detour is to use 1900 West to 4400 South to access the south end of Airport Road.

Based upon several close calls between construction personnel and drivers on Airport Road, it has been determined that there is simply not enough room to accomodate construction and allow for a single lane to continue with through traffic. This will require that all traffic on Airport Road will be severed at the construction site. Right now this point of construction is at Borsight's Hangar. Those persons needing access to Borsight or any of the hangars and businesses north of Borsight, will continue to enter from the intersection of Airport Road and 3100 South (Hinckley Drive).

Those persons needing to access hangars or businesses south of Borsight's hangar will have to use the detour and will have to enter Airport Road at the far south end at the round-a-bout. Unfortunately, this detour will have to be used until the contractor completes the sewer line to its completion just south of OGD Airport Vehicle Gate #4. The anticipated completion date is the middle of August.

Please realize that this is an Ogden City project, not an OGD Airport project.

The contractor is BHI and the engineering contact with Ogden City Engineering is Ian Frankland:
