Building Services

- Code Services: Our River Parkway Taskforce completed another major milestone by working with an additional property owner to clean up their property on West 17th Street. There were about 45 vehicles illegally stored at the site and the property owner achieved compliance by having them removed by her tenants. Our taskforce is made up of business licensing, engineering, code, planning, and legal – as well as the State of Utah Motor Vehicle Enforcement Division.
- Business Licensing: We are so appreciative of the lifelong service that Pauline Miller has given to our Ogden businesses, residents and colleagues. We will truly miss her being the first one here every morning and being the last one to leave (does anyone even know where the light switches are?). Pauline’s shoes are going to be so hard to fill!
  - We now have a new job posting for a Business Licensing Coordinator and are excited about what the future will bring.

Planning

Zone Ogden

- Planning facilitated an open house on the Zone Ogden development code update (photo right). About 70 people came to Union Station to give input on topics such as infill residential development, noticing, and design standards. We will use this feedback in crafting the code.

Plan Ogden

- Our consultant team, Logan Simpson, made their first presentation to the City Council on the new General Plan. The team presented the public engagement plan, noted the high-level of ongoing public engagement in Ogden (more than anywhere else in UT), and got feedback on priorities/visions. We adopted the tagline “Plan Ogden: our voice, our vision.”
- Our consultant team also took a tour of Ogden to view various neighborhoods, commercial, and industrial areas. The team rode the OGX line to tour the station areas that will be included in the plans they will help develop.
- Mayor Nadolski filmed an introduction video to encourage participation in the General Plan process (planned for June introduction).
- Planning staff presented to three Ogden High School classes to get their input on the plan.

Landmarks

- The Landmarks Commission met to consider four minor changes to historic buildings. The commission approved all but one request.
- The Commission also heard a presentation on the new hotel planned for WonderBlock and gave input on important design features to incorporate into the project.

Board of Zoning Adjustment

- The Board met to consider a parking setback variance on Country Hills Drive. The Commission approved the request.
