II. OGDEN CITY – BACKGROUND

Ogden City was incorporated in 1851. With a population of approximately 90,000, it is the largest municipality in Weber County and serves as the county seat. Ogden City has stable, older neighborhoods undergoing revitalization, newer neighborhoods experiencing some growth, and a central business district also undergoing revitalization. Many of the county's recreational, leisure and cultural opportunities are located in Ogden. It is home to Weber State University, a public institution, with a total enrollment of approximately 25,000.

Ogden City operates under a Council-Mayor form of government. The seven member council sets city policy and authorizes all budgetary actions. III. SCOPE OF SERVICES AND DELIVERABLES

A. General Description

The study shall analyze the efficiency and effectiveness of the policies, procedures, management, and operations of the Ogden City Public Service Department, to respond to the issues outlined below. The analysis shall include comparisons with similarly-situated cities in the United States, especially those located in the western United States. Criteria such as city size, demographics, large central city, age of city neighborhoods and infrastructure, form of government, etc. should be used in comparison wherever possible.

The study should focus on the management structure, staffing levels, efficiency and effectiveness of day-to-day operations, and the sufficiency of supporting data management tools and data collected used by Public Services to complete its mission. General Fund operations are the primary focus of the study. Utility and Golf Enterprise Fund general operations are not part of the scope of the study and should be excluded; however, a review of the management structure of the Department may include a high-level review of the Utility and Golf Enterprise Funds.

B. Management and Performance Review

1. Strategic Plan Development

- a. Review departmental missions and objectives for adequacy, appropriateness, and effectiveness.
- b. Outline recommended strategies for achieving departmental missions and objectives with enough specificity for implementation.
- c. Define critical issues facing the Public Services Department over the next five to ten years.
- d. Analyze the impact of anticipated growth on staffing and service levels.
- e. Outline a process for incorporating study results into a Strategic Plan for the Public Services Department.
- f. Provide recommendations on Key Performance Metrics for the department.

2. General Management Review

- a. Provide a review and analysis of organizational structure, staffing levels, and staffing requirements by function and make recommendations for improvements.
- b. Review the number, type, and purpose of the department's various organizational components (divisions, sections, and units), and interrelationships that exist between them. Determine if similar or compatible functions are assembled in logical groupings and the extent to which authority and responsibility is properly allocated between them. Assess the manner that the efforts of the components are planned, directed, coordinated, and supervised.

- c. Determine whether the allocation of resources in Public Services Department's various divisions is efficient and adequate to meet the needs of the city.
- d. Analyze the organizational structure of the Public Services Department as it relates to accepted standards of organizational theory and practice. Determine if the organizational structure complies with professionally accepted concepts such as span of control, logical grouping of activities and functions, and other organizational components. Consider enhancements that may be justified in the future in the event of additional staffing and/or modifications to the organizational structure. This could include consideration of dividing the department into two smaller departments. This review may include the organizational and management structure of the Enterprise Funds in addition to the General Fund operations. (The current management structure is a result of a 2004 merger of two departments. Although the city council does not have any concerns with the current management structure, an evaluation by an outside party may provide helpful information.)
- e. Review trends in providing the city's public services. Compare best practices in communities of similar size and demographics with the Public Service Department's approach.
- f. Identify tasks that can be completed in a more efficient and/or economical method such as reassigning staff, consolidating functions, making technology upgrades, or providing additional resources.
- g. Classify General Fund services and operations into a systematic organization that allows costs and effectiveness to be understood and differentiated. These services and operations shall include those expected of a modern municipal public services department matching the size and workload of the department and does not necessarily conform to those being provided by the Ogden City Public Services Department. Possible services and issues should include the identification of services that may be added, eliminated, combined, or privatized to provide appropriate levels of service for the city of Ogden.

- h. Review administrative functions for effectiveness and efficiency, coordination and scheduling of training, the current state of equipment and facility needs, planning for future capital needs, and utilization and implementation of available funds.
- i. Review the Public Services Department's communications policies, priorities, and practices, and determine if these serve the needs of the community.

3. Facilities, Equipment, and Technology

- a. Provide a review and analysis of facilities and vehicle equipment needs (including fleet plan suggestions). An in-depth review and analysis of fleet policies and procedures is not required.
- b. Provide a review and analysis of personal equipment needs.
- c. Evaluate the effects of emerging trends in technology on the range of services and delivery.

4. Other Related Items

- b. Recommend any other organizational improvements that can be made to enhance overall service.

IV. DELIVERABLES

- A. Consultant will document all study findings, conclusions, and recommendations in a formal study report. The consultant will identify opportunities for improvement in all areas identified in the Scope of Services and develop specific recommendations for implementation of those improvements.

- B. Recommendations should be given a timeframe for completion (e.g. immediate implementation, next fiscal year, within three years, etc.) to provide direction for the department in incorporating the changes. Budgetary constraints on implementation should be taken into consideration.
- C. Consultant will provide information describing the purpose of the study, methodology, timeframe, and introduce the consultant staff to Public Services employees and other city employees in an orientation meeting. Meeting(s) may be conducted in person or through a web-based access format.
- D. Consultant may, if deemed appropriate, conduct anonymous surveys of Public Services employees regarding their perception of the department's mission, goals and objectives, workload, information, supervision, training, policies and procedures, promotion, resources, etc. The results of the anonymous surveys will be included and outlined in the final report.
- E. Consultant will provide monthly status reports to the city council office including a summary of all costs incurred and work performed by project team members during the period.
